http://www.christianpost.com/article/20090630/son-of-martyred-pastor-iran-cannot-be-the-same-anymore/index.html Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a "Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while Christians, Jews, Baha'is, and Zoroastrians comprise the remaining two percent.
Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a "Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a "Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a "Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a 'Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a 'Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while Iran is ranked third on Open Doors' World Watch List for countries with the worst persecution of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a 'Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while
of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while of Christians. The U.S. Commission on International Religious Freedom also lists Iran as a 'Country of Particular Concern," a label given to countries with the worst religious freedom abuses. According to the CIA World Factbook, 98 percent of Iran's population is Muslim while